From talking to our clients over the last year, there is an overwhelming view that the most important information is

What is happening? And When?

Despite this love of technology, at present clients are saying they want information through the letterbox rather than E-mail, although even this is changing.

These will coincide with the Quarterly Sales, which will remain online in both text-only and fully illustrated versions, whichever suits your requirements.

the form is overleaf – and send by post
